Good evening,

Having seen yet another video of the flooding on Stannus street, I think it's time to buy out those poor homeowners. If the problem can't be solved quickly please stop their suffering asap then worry about a long-term solution.

I'm fine with my taxes going up a little bit to accomplish this. I can't imagine the stress they go through each time there's a rainfall or storm warning.

Tear down the houses and build a 'sponge park'. Maybe that will be enough to alleviate the flooding situation. Here's an article on what's going on in Montreal.
