To Whom It May Concern:

I have been a seasonal camper at BeechBrook Campground (167 BeechBrook Rd) for 4 years. When I first drove down the BeechBrook road, it was in bad shape. Since then, it has become increasingly worse. You have to maneuver the deep ruts and or major potholes that are everywhere on the road. It's quite dangerous when the oncoming traffic is also trying to do the same thing.

We use this road on a regular basis. Every weekend from April 1 to the end of October, and then at least 6 times during the winter months to check on the trailer. The road is a disgrace.

Additionally, in July we host an annual Blues Grass Festival at the campground. This is a great opportunity to showcase this area of Nova Scotia. With over 1000 festival goers, this gives a boost to the economy by adding tourists to our region - some from as far away as Georgia. How disappointing, though, that they have to drive over such a rundown road to reach their destination. Not a pleasant drive for our visitors.

I think it is about time that this road gets some much needed repair.
